2. Citations and explanations (Rule 70.7)

1. Citations

Reference is made to the following document:

D1: JP 9-100779 A (ZEKUSERU CORP.) 15 April 1997

The subject matter of claim 1 is a piston assembly including a hollow disc-shaped ring fixed to the piston by a shrink fitting process, and welded to the magnet sleeve which is made of the same material.

The subject matter of claims 7 and 11 is a piston assembly including a fixing member fusion-fixed to the magnet sleeve by an applied electric current.

D1 discloses a compressor with an electromagnetic clutch including a stator on a front head by spot-welding a stator installation plate to a bottom surface of the stator.

2. Novelty (PCT Article 33(2))

The prior art document D1 discloses does not a disc-shaped ring and a fixing member. Therefore, the subject matter of claims 1, 7, and 11 is considered to be novel and the subject matter of dependent claims 2-6, 8-10, and 12-14 is also considered to be novel.

3. Inventive Step (PCT Article 33(3))

3.1 Concerning Claims 1, 2

Claims 1 and 2 differ from D1 in that the assembly of claims 1 and 2 is equipped with an additional ring to combine the stator and the piston. However, the shrink method to combine a mechanical part is obvious to a person skilled in this art. Therefore, the subject matter of claims 1 and 2 does not involve an inventive step.

Supplemental Box

(To be used when the space in any of the preceding boxes is not sufficient)

Continuation of:

Box V.

3.2 Concerning Claims 3-6

Claims 3-6 relate to a method to combine the magnet sleeve and the ring in claim 1 and are considered to involve an inventive step because the prior art does not teach or fairly suggest any of the embodiments as specially set forth in the claims.

3.3 Concerning Claims 7-14

Claims 7 and 11 differ from D1 in that the assembly of claims 7 and 11 has a fixing member fusion-fixed to the magnet sleeve by an applied electric current. And this method is non-obvious to a person skilled in this art.

Claims 8-10 and claims 12-14 are dependent on claims 7 and 11 respectively.

Therefore, the subject matter of claims 7-14 involves an inventive step.

4. Industrial Applicability (PCT Article 33(4))

The subject matter of claims 1-14 is considered to be industrially applicable.
